

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS

We're inviting those working in innovative, evidence-based primary care or community care programs and initiatives related to lung health to submit an abstract to present a virtual and interactive presentation at the Lung Health Foundation's Respiratory Health Forum on Oct. 25, 2022. The audience is primary and community care healthcare professionals from across Canada.

Preference will be given to those presenting on the realities of primary care and day-to-day ways you're addressing the needs of patients with lung disease.

To submit, complete the application form here before July 4, 2022.

Submissions will be reviewed by the planning committee.
All applicants will be contacted by August with the status of their application.

ABOUT THE RESPIRATORY HEALTH FORUM

Supported by the Ontario Ministry of Health's asthma and COPD program, the Respiratory Health Forum is an accredited annual event bringing together primary care and community care healthcare professionals from across Canada to learn and network.

PRESENTATION IDEAS

While you're welcome to submit for any topic related to lung health, attendees have expressed interest in learning about:

- Management of patients aging at home with chronic lung disease
- Asthma in children – trends since COVID or more broadly, viral infections and children in schools
- Severe asthma; the role of biologics
- Long COVID
- Smoking, E-Cigarette and Vaping addiction – the role of primary care in cessation
- Update on virtual care and Spirometry during COVID
- Environmental impact of asthma medications
- Use and trends in vaping during the pandemic
